

CONFLICT RESOLUTION IN MINDANAO

WHEELCHAIRS for MINDANAO for WAR VICTIMS & OTHER DISABLED PERSONS

BACKGROUND/HISTORY

In 2003 more than 400,000 civilians in the southern part of Mindanao were forced to leave their homes and livelihoods. Displaced by the fighting between government security forces and the Moro Islamic Liberation Front (MIL), they continue to struggle for their daily survival in an environment where there are few opportunities for earning a living. Significant number had been forced from their homes for the second or third time. The recurring situation also resulted to general underdevelopment, with the vulnerable sectors as first victims, including the persons with disabilities (before the conflict or as a victim of the war) and who have received very limited attention.

The internally displaced persons (IDPs) are in need of rehabilitation assistance to restart their lives. The disabled war victims, often left out in the various rehabilitation and development efforts, doubly need the necessary rehabilitation services to support their integration into their communities. This four-year project, which started in June 2004, aims to make the PWDs productive members of their communities.
